ISS Ranked as One of the World's Best Outsourcing Companies

May 4th, 2009 - The International Association of Outsourcing Professionals (IAOP) has just published a list of the world's top 100 outsourcing companies. ISS is proud to announce that ISS is ranked number seven (7) on the list of companies from around the world providing the full spectrum of outsourcing services such as IT, consultancy and facility services to name a few.

Being rated one of the best facility services companies on the list demonstrates that ISS does fulfil our mission to lead facility services globally. And we do so by leading facility services locally. ISS has achieved the high rank based on not only our global presence and size, but also based on among other criteria such as our ability to train and develop employees, the recognitions ISS has received worldwide as well as our impressive client list.

Our value proposition can help clients become more efficient through outsourcing. Many clients are seeing the benefit of not only single service outsourcing, but also of Integrated Facility Services outsourcing. For a long time, companies were happy using different providers for different functions and did not see the need to change. They were worried about risk: Relying on one provider for ten services meant if anything happened to that provider, many corporate functions could be effected. The economic environment, however, is changing the picture. Companies are now taking a closer look at how efficient their current service set-up is, and they are discovering that there are real benefits to Integrated Facility Service outsourcing.

The list of the top 100 outsourcing companies is published in a special section in the May 4th issue of Fortune Magazine, which you can find by clicking here.
